ARE STUDENTS INTERESTED IN POLITICS?

During the last two or three years discussion of the question, "Resolved, that Democratic government is a failure," has been widespread throughout our country. Not only is it a debatable question, but on which is causing a great deal of perplexity among our foremost thinkers.

It is contended by the opponents of democracy that the classes of people who are qualified to take in hand the matters of government administration are indifferent and don't care how the affairs of their government are conducted. The preponderance of evidence indicates that such a statement is true, and chief among the leaders of political indifference are the college men and women.

Could it be true that college students have no convictions? That they care not who robs the public coffers? That they are indifferent to machine politics and corruption among those in whose hands rests the confusion and welfare of our country? We hope that such assertions are false and without foundation.

College men and women do care! But on the other hand they do not act.

Before another month is history a new President of the United States will have been elected. Whether that President will represent your ideas or not is for you to decide.

Don't be afraid to declare yourself. Don't hide your honest convictions, they are nothing to be ashamed of. Affiliate yourself with one of the parties, and show some signs of life.

One of the most successful projects of the Brigham Young University is the matinee dance. These dances are well attended and produce a spirit that very closely resembles the "old time religion."

There is, however, one feature that greatly detracts from the pleasure of these occasions, that is the tendency of some of the students who are not dancing to stand in the aisle in the floor and thus reduce the dancing space by half.

It is true that the encroaches of these dances are spite artists, and the boys are under the necessity of sanding where they can get a good view of the dancers. This can be done, though, just as well if the entire crowd will co-operate and stand back.

Common courtesy demands that spectators should give the fellows who have the corner on the Wednesday dances the opportunity of enjoying the first part of the dance which belongs to them. The situation which exists at the Wednesday dances is a reflection on the entire student body. It will take very little to change it. Let's see what can be done.

will seem flawless to you, but, alas, not to the hard-hearted executioners of the faculty, who have a special thrust for the gore of brilliant escape makers.

"Question 3: Are you man enough to carry these change in your pocket without spending it? Chaffin lack of self-control in handling money ruins more college careers than liquor and gambling combined. Over-spending, buying on credit, borrowing, driving the home landlord, are the inevitable exposure and smashup."

"Question 4: Are you man enough when another fellow's answer is within easy reach, to fall on an examination?"

OPINIONS

It is a very interesting fact that to a few students, and faculty members present at the meeting of the Young Republicans held Wednesday evening, it is held figures that at least eleven students and two faculty members there, while out in the hall were at least fifty students of varying age entertaining themselves in a mode of play that so often and so easily at any time can be engaged in. Perhaps a day or two after the privilege of talking to that best girl in the hall, a day or two after the indifference of American citizens to the religion of government and to the election of officials. I cannot account for the absence of many of the faculty members.

Republicans or Democrats who should know both sides of this story for we have representatives in both parties. We wonder the nation is so dissatisfied with the policies of government with such an indifferent attitude among its people.

Matinee Dance Is Great Success

The matinee dance held Wednesday at this week it was to have been even better than the last one, if, as could be possible. The crowd exceeded both in quantity and quality, the previous dance. What many of the old students were seen together, the large number of stage, male and female, insured a good time for all.

The music was furnished by the Collegians and was the happiest ever.

"Is your watch running?"
"No, I'm carrying it."

Revenge is served only to the very small indifference attitude among its people.

A Matter of Opinion

Helen Costello has filed for divorce charging that her husband refused to work after she had found employment for him. What's worse, she accuses him of being a low life.

Later than obtain untold millions in the wholesale racket of university life, opportunities to be and cheat are everywhere. It is when the temptation comes, you are too weak to resist, you are not fit for college, and will soon be kicked out by your fellow students and disgraced.

It is not to be treated with entire liberty in the university. The temptations and hours, stay away from the university. If you are not prepared to handle your age, height or units.

"That's a great examination."

Claws and Scratches

Even the editor of "The Y" News and Don Cliff are expected to refrain from oratory practices in the magazine form of the library.

Some professors look better with a lie on.

This week our sympathy goes to the freshman who thought the Timb lake would start according to scheduled time.

Futural pies will be held for school unit number seventeen (See Chronical) at the Bureau office at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Prof. Walter Cotton will be the speaker.

It seems hard for some children to grow up enough to discard their high school letters on the campus.

We wish someone better the Tans and Nuggets would do something.

It's getting hard to fill this column.

"Don't Start Too Soon"—Expert

A recent issue of the Boys' Life Magazine, published an article on the qualifications necessary to make a success of college life, from which the following was taken:

"In order to get the greatest benefit from a university course, a boy should be mature enough to choose the best thing for himself. He must be old enough to resist the subjects that will be of most use to him in life, instead of just taking the easiest ones. He must be old enough to resist the temptations of the world, that will be best for him, instead of simply choosing those that will show him a good time. He must be mature enough to develop good habits of thought and study and conduct rather than bad ones. If he has to rely on professors and advisors, or teachers and the community advice to keep him straight a big university is no place for him."

Do not go to a university unless you're old enough to know what you want, and man enough to see that you get it.

"The applies to far more than the mere choice of university courses and the ability to pass the marks. Here is the gist of a good university entrance examination that was worked out at a college for boys, and that has been used since in the hundreds of different universities. It deals with qualifications quite aside from scholarship requirements, that you will need at any of the great universities to be successful. If you can't pass it, remember that the college grade will be never full, and it always passing for the fellows who are awarded short-sightedness, or dishonesty. If you can pass it you can be sure that after college, all the road to success will be open. Here it is:

"Question 1: Are you man enough to get up promptly every morning, get to your meals and to school on time every day, and to bed at a fixed hour every night, all of your own initiative, without a word of reminder from anybody?"

"Question 2: Are you man enough to go off by yourself every day and study all your lessons till you know them, without having anyone tell you to get to work?"

"Question 3: Are you man enough to study, nobody makes you study. If you haven't got enough in life to do your own account, you will soon be in the college graveyard. Your success

FRESHMEAT TALK TIGHT SCHEDULE

FROSH TO MEET DELTA AND L. D. S. C. THIS WEEK END

Delta and the L. D. S. are among the strongest of the state high school football and present some stiff opposition to the Kittens. L. D. S. is a strong contender for the state title this year, and when it will be remembered that only one team has won the Provo high school a score into the freshmen by constantly threatening the governing grid, it will be seen that these high schools produce players of a very high caliber.

But after last Saturday's victory over the powerful Green River Athletic Club eleven, Coach Dixon's Kittens show that they are learning foot ball fast. There is a wealth of talent among the squad, of many first men in the eleven, and "Back" is masterfully explaining to these favorable elements to develop the mightiest football eleven ever turned from the freshmen ranks of this institution.

The work of Marvin Skowen, our state star from Arizona in Saturday's game was nothing out of the ordinary. He backed up the line in football style, and spoiled most of the Green River efforts in scoring the ends or through the air. On offense his powerful thrusts through the line were good for many yards. Ripple, Summersby and Merrill also commended themselves to the backfield, while Wilson, McGregor, Clark and Hammond, furnished additional help in the forward wall.

The Cougar Kittens are looking for the annual battle with the U. of U. freshmen for the state championship. With its material on hand the greenlings promise to make the other freshmen fight for whatever they would say after the 1928 title.

Two games this weekend are the schedule for the Kittens football squad before Sunday school. Sunday morning one with the Delta High School at Delta Friday afternoon, followed by a game with the strong L. D. S. high school eleven on the "Y" stadium field Saturday at 2 p. m.

Coach "Black" Dixon will take twenty of the squad to Delta, mostly players who have not, too far, had the opportunity to get into any of the games this season. The rest of the squad will remain here to prepare for the battle on Saturday.

The men who will make the trip to Delta Friday will be: Hays and Johnson, ends; Hardy and Robertson, tackles; Yorgenson and Hall, guards; Conner, center; Summersby, quarterback; Prickett and Livingston, halfbacks; Madley, fullback.

These men will compose the starting lineup and Hardy, Nelson, Head, Clark, Miner, Wright, Walker, Sutherland, Jacobs and Kitchin substitutes.

The "Y" greenlings, with two hard earned victories tucked away, are determined to keep the record clean this year and will show the fight characteristic of Young in order to turn in victories this week end.

BOXING GETTING POPULAR AT 'Y'

The manly art of self defense is gradually drawing attention at the Y. A small group of from five to eight men keep the record alive up in the men's gym lively with fast rounds of real scrapping.

Although the sport is not included in Rocky Mountain collegiate competition, there is no reason why real fellows who like to hear the smack of leather against leather should not indulge in this noble sport.

Under the watchful eye of "Chuck" Jenie, the classy little student boxer, the Y's fellows are receiving invaluable pointers on how to give and take.

It is desired that all men in school who are interested in boxing show themselves around the men's gym at 5 p. m. on school days. It is possible that we may be able to have enough men for a class, providing sufficient interest is shown and sanction obtained from the proper authorities. Any way we can at least form an association of boxers in the school.

The following R. M. C. teams are slated to play Saturday, October 31:

How Bill Roper Picks His Princeton Squad

"The quality I look for in a first best described the ability to handle oneself," says Bill Roper, Princeton coach, in the November issue of College Humor. "A close correlation between mind and muscle is shown in balance, speed, rhythm and grace. I look out the men with nerve and cheerfulness, who do not complain too readily of bumps and bruises, and who realize the successful coach builds his squad and knows the dispositions and temperaments of every player. The unattractive boy perfectly set up but utterly lacking in fire and spirit to rise to a fighting pitch during a game is a thorn in any coach's basket of roses.

There is a general impression that only big, brawny men have a chance to excel in football. Coach Yon, of Michigan, gives five qualities that make up the football player's determination, perseverance, coordination, brains and strength. "Determination not strength, is the first thing I look for," he says. "The strong, brawny coordinated boy is not as useful unless he possesses the determination and willingness to persevere."

"Stags of Chicago," believes that football players are born, not made. "Certainly," he points out, "physical attributes enter into being a perfect football player, but a manufacturer's racket or ball back will always remain an automatic, a mechanical player. The boy who is worth his weight in gold is a player who can think."

Registration Nears The 1,300 Mark

Although school has been in session more than three weeks at Brigham Young University, registration will grow on despite the fact that an extra charge of $2 is assessed for late registration and the number of late students may register for it is cut down.

The final student roll will show 1,200 students and it is now mounting rapidly toward 1,300, according to E. H. Hild, secretary of the faculty.

The elementary and secondary schools are filled now, so overflowing and many students have been turned away on account of the facility of the university to take care.

Departmental News

The college of commerce this year (over twenty) are not larger than in previous years, making an enrollment of about 240 students. The classes of accounting are over crowded, therefore, the department was forced to get more help to care for the excessive group. There had to be seen new typing sections or better of students who desire but were unable to take it. The students are doing excellent work and it is believed that this year's work will be a great mark of progress at the institution.
